

Published based on Backyard farmers by necessity: self-sufficient & debt-free

Backyard farmers by necessity: self-sufficient & debt-free

When Myrna and Earl Fincher married 53 years ago they started farming their yard "out of necessity". Today, the Finchers make a living selling their organic produce to restaurants and at the local farmers' market twice a week for much of the year. They had no experience as farmers, but learned by trial and error.

You can also find this article published on Backyard farmers by necessity: self-sufficient & debt-free, and on the tag pages Backyard, debtfree, farmers, necessity, selfsufficient.